

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Media Contact:
Pamela Brownstein
Jaffe Brownstein Strategies
908.917.1308
brownstein@jbstrategies.com
www.jbstrategies.com

Robert E. Bartkus, Arbitrator and Litigator, Joins McCusker, Anselmi, Rosen and Carvelli

FLORHAM PARK, N.J. – April 13, 2015 – McCusker, Anselmi, Rosen and Carvelli welcomes Robert E. Bartkus, who concentrates on business and international arbitration and litigation.

Bartkus joined the firm on March 23 as of counsel.

He is the initiator, co-editor and co-author of New Jersey Federal Civil Procedure, which is published annually by Law Journal Books, and is a member of the New Jersey Law Journal Editorial Board.

Bartkus graduated in 1976 from Stanford Law School, where he was articles co-editor of the Stanford Law Review, and in 1968 from Swarthmore College, where he earned his B.A., with honors. He served as an officer in the U.S. Navy from 1969 to 1973.

Before joining McCusker, Anselmi, he was a partner with Dillon, Bitar & Luther in Morristown.

About McCusker, Anselmi, Rosen and Carvelli, P.C.

The firm provides civil and criminal representation for clients ranging from Fortune 500 corporations, especially in the oil and pharmaceutical industries, to smaller companies and individuals. Its expertise includes environmental, commercial, employment, and First Amendment litigation and counseling, as well as white-collar criminal defense.